INTERNSHIP OFFER LETTER

29 September 2026

To: Jilla Shravya

Subject: Offer of internship as Budgeting Associate

Dear Jilla Shravya,

We are pleased to offer you an internship with Nhancio Technologies Private Limited as Budgeting Associate. This letter records the principal terms of the internship. Please read it carefully and retain a copy for your records.

Key terms

Role	Budgeting Associate
Department	Finance and Accounts
Internship period	1 October 2026 to 30 October 2026
Work arrangement	Remote
Working schedule	Monday to Friday | 40 hours per week, with timing agreed with Didigam Nithin (CEO)
Reporting to	Didigam Nithin (CEO)

1. Nature and purpose of the internship

The internship is a structured, time-bound learning engagement intended to provide practical exposure, supervised project experience, and professional development. It does not guarantee future employment, conversion to a permanent role, or continued engagement after the stated end date. Any extension or employment offer must be made separately in writing by an authorized representative of Nhancio.

2. Responsibilities and expected standards

- Maintain organized invoices, receipts, expense records, and supporting documents for budgeting work.
- Update expense and budget-tracking sheets, checking entries against available source documents.
- Assist with bookkeeping, routine reconciliations, and identification of missing or inconsistent records.
- Prepare expense summaries and supporting information for internal budget and finance reports.
- Track payable and receivable item status and coordinate follow-ups under supervision.
- Protect company, client, and user information and follow all security, privacy, and responsible-AI requirements.
- Participate in reviews and hand over finance records and task status at the end of the internship.

Assignments may reasonably evolve during the internship. You are expected to perform agreed work diligently, communicate blockers promptly, maintain accurate records, participate in reviews, and follow lawful instructions relevant to the role.

3. Working arrangements, attendance, and leave

Your normal arrangement is remote. Work will be performed remotely on Monday to Friday, for 40 hours per week, with timing agreed with Didigam Nithin (CEO). Reasonable schedule changes may be agreed with Didigam Nithin (CEO). Planned leave requires prior written approval from the reporting manager. Emergencies should be communicated as soon as reasonably possible. Leave during the short internship period may affect completion documentation. Persistent unapproved absence, material lateness, or failure to communicate availability may result in review or termination of the internship.

4. Expenses

Only expenses approved in writing before they are incurred will be eligible for reimbursement against valid receipts.

5. Supervision and performance

You will report to Didigam Nithin (CEO). Nhancio may set milestones, request status updates, review work quality, and provide feedback. Continued participation and any completion documentation depend on satisfactory performance, attendance, professional conduct, and fulfillment of handover obligations.

6. Confidentiality and information security

During and after the internship, you must keep confidential all non-public company, client, partner, employee, applicant, and user information learned through the engagement. Confidential information includes business plans, pricing, credentials, source code, models, prompts, datasets, designs, research, processes, and personal data. Use such information only for authorized internship work; do not copy it to personal systems, disclose it, publish it, or use it for an external portfolio without prior written approval. Immediately report suspected loss, unauthorized access, or disclosure and follow all access-control and data-handling instructions. These duties survive the end of the internship.

7. Intellectual property and work product

To the extent permitted by applicable law, work product created specifically within the scope of assigned internship duties using Nhancio or client time, information, systems, or resources will belong to Nhancio or the relevant client, as directed. You agree to disclose such work product and reasonably assist with documentation needed to confirm ownership. Pre-existing intellectual property remains yours if disclosed in writing before it is incorporated into assigned work; its inclusion requires prior approval and an appropriate licence. No company or client material may be open-sourced, published, demonstrated, or included in a portfolio without written authorization.

8. Conduct, conflicts, and policies

You must act professionally, respectfully, lawfully, and without discrimination or harassment. Disclose any actual or potential conflict of interest, including overlapping work that could compromise confidentiality, availability, or ownership of work product. You must follow applicable Nhancio and client policies communicated to you, including responsible-AI, acceptable-use, security, privacy, and workplace-conduct requirements. You may not represent that you can bind Nhancio or make commitments on its behalf unless expressly authorized in writing.

9. Systems, equipment, and return of property

Nhancio may provide accounts, spreadsheets, repositories, finance records, or equipment needed for approved work. All access remains company property and must be returned or disabled at the end of the internship. On request or at the end of the internship, you must promptly return physical property, transfer current work, delete company or client information from personal devices and accounts where permitted, and confirm completion of the offboarding steps.

10. Verification and eligibility

This offer is subject to the accuracy of the information and documents provided by the intern and any reasonable identity, education, or background checks requested by Nhancio. You are responsible for maintaining any academic permission, work authorization, identification, or other eligibility required for the internship and for promptly disclosing any change that affects eligibility.

11. Ending the internship

Either you or Nhancio may end the internship by giving 7 calendar days written notice, unless a shorter period is mutually agreed. Nhancio may end the internship immediately for serious misconduct, material breach of confidentiality or security, falsification, unlawful conduct, repeated non-performance, policy violations, loss of eligibility, or conduct that reasonably creates material risk to Nhancio, its clients, or users.

12. Completion documentation

Subject to satisfactory performance, completion of assigned work, return of company property, and compliance with this letter, Nhancio may issue an internship completion certificate. Any recommendation letter remains discretionary.

13. Governing terms and changes

This letter and any policies expressly incorporated into it record the understanding for the internship and replace prior discussions about the same engagement. Any amendment must be in writing and approved by an authorized Nhancio representative. If a provision is unenforceable, the remaining provisions continue to apply to the extent permitted by law. This letter is governed by the laws applicable in Telangana, India, and the competent courts there will have jurisdiction, subject to any mandatory law that applies.
